

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

The public needs to be served properly by having many different voices to choose from which should include those voices that don't necessarily have the most money to own media outlets. In the spirit of free open debate, I oppose the consolidation of media ownership which allows the most wealthy corporations to control the debate and present only their side of the issues
